Current Comment

By R. H. K.

The opinions (if any) expressed herein, are not necessarily those of The Campbell Press.

Now we can all get back into our working clothes, secure in the knowledge that "the holidays" are safely out of the way for another twelvemonth.

The New Year arrived with its customary bang (BANG BANG in Europe) and a good time was had by all. And if I could collect a dollar for every yesterday morning headache I'd never have to work again.

Features of the general celebration yesterday included a couple of football games which seemed to indicate that west coast athletes are able to hold their own in any company. The visiting firemen were not exactly what you'd call push-overs either. It looks to me like this guy Kmetovic rates a spot on somebody's "all-American." Boy! Would I like to have seen that 60-yard run-back!

Traffic accidents in Santa Clara county reached a new high during the past year, and it is going to be quite a job to alter the situation in 1941. If every man, woman, or youth who drives a car makes up his or her mind to play it safe, the traffic-accident rate, with its attendant maiming and killing, will be practically licked. And intensified policing by highway and city patrolmen can go a long way toward weeding out the screwballs who so nonchalantly menace life and limb.

Speaking of screwballs, Campbell has more than its share of them. Almost invariably they drive automobiles whose brakes have little to recommend them; they are usually uninsured and they definitely have no regard for the other fellow. Due to the recent visit of Santa Claus, there are many newcomers to the sports of bicycling, roller skating, and the like, and one cannot always be sure that the small fry and their rolling stock will be on the sidewalks, where they belong. A small person, involved in the intricacies of a new gadget, has little or no room in his skull for anything but the problem immediately at hand. So, assuming that we who drive automobiles have the normal mental equipment, isn't it up to us to furnish the caution for both ourselves and the young pilots who occasionally get themselves and their gear into the street? Let's try it, anyway. (And that goes for a certain crack-pot who charges past my house two or three times a day—traveling about 40 m. p. h.)

After all, life here in America should be valued more highly than it is in Europe. A perusal of our "killed in (highway) action" list, however, would give a European cause to wonder.

We're going to be less peaceful, too, as time goes on. Informed observers are predicting that we'll be in the war within three to six months. I predicted that several months ago, and so far nothing has happened to make me change my mind.

Population of Campbell Greater Than In 1939

Appearing in the San Jose Mercury Herald's issue of January 1, was an article entitled "Westside Sets Growth Record During Year" in which Campbell is given valuable publicity.

We quote that part of the item:

Campbell, Los Gatos and Saratoga, principal towns of the "Westside," hailed by the P. G. & E., officials as the "fastest growing section of Santa Clara county," could find plenty on the 1940 record to swell local chests with pride as the old year melted into the new.

In the Campbell area alone, the population increased from 3162 in 1939 to 4013 at the close of 1940, Postmaster Ira Grim asserted, drawing his information from accounts of the number of postoffice patrons.

Campbell water company whose operations cover a much more limited territory, reported 64 new services during 1940. On the nationally accepted basis of 3.7 persons, the population of "Campbell proper" is thus fixed at 2704 as compared with 2468 at the close of 1939.

Concrete evidence of the growth in and around Campbell is the rapid development of nearly a dozen subdivisions and erection of seven new business houses near the Campbell avenue-Winchester road intersection.

Increased residential advantages, such as the new high school plant opened in 1938 and the new sanitary disposal system dedicated in June, 1940, are considered chief reasons for the continued boost in population.

New Officers of Kiwanis Club To Take Over Jan. 7

Campbell Kiwanians heard a resume of the years activities of their club at Tuesday's meeting. J. O. Leverton, secretary elect for 1941, read from the report of secretary Jack Murdock who was en route to Los Angeles.

A point of pride with the local club is its attendance percentage which for the past year was 93.8 per cent, above the national average, but which the club hopes to better for 1941.

This was the last meeting for the 1940 officers, the new corps, with Joseph V. Gomes, president, will be installed on Tuesday, Jan. 7.

Jack Leverton with two friends from San Jose were spectators at the Rose Bowl game yesterday as was also Jack Murdock who made the return trip with them.

License Plate Time Here Again

Start of the new year brings automobile license plate time for California's millions of car owners.

The annual period of renewal of registration is Jan. 2 to Feb. 4.

Renewal procedure consists of three simple steps, summarized by the California State Automobile association as follows:

Look at the 1940 registration card, which should be in the driver's compartment of the car as required by law.

Note the total of fees for 1941 as stated in the lower left hand corner of the card. This replaces the former postcard notice. The total consists of the $3 registration fee and the vehicle license fee at the rate of $1.75 per $100 of car value.

Take the 1940 card and amount of 1941 fees to any office of the Department of Motor Vehicles or, if a member of the Automobile association, to any of its 34 offices.

After Feb. 4 delinquent penalties will double the registration fee and add 50 per cent to the vehicle license fee.

Lester-Boyd Engagement Announced

The engagement of Miss Betty Viola Lester to Charles Stanton Boyd was made formally at a Christmas day family party at the Lester home.

Miss Lester is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Lester of Saratoga avenue and the groom-to-be is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark S. Stocker of Payne avenue.

Both of the young people are graduates of the Campbell Union High school, Boyd in the class of '36 and Miss Lester in '38, and both are now attending San Jose State college where they are affiliated with Alpha Pi Omega fraternity and Ero Sophian sorority respectively.

Christmas Seal Sale Is Successful

Christmas Day marked the official close of the 34th annual Christmas Seal sale, conducted locally by the Santa Clara County Tuberculosis association.

"The Santa Clara County association wishes to sincerely thank the many public spirited citizens who, in recognition of the local anti-tuberculosis program conducted by the association, have supported the annual sale. The success of the recent campaign, already evident, will make it possible," said Dr. Buford H. Wardrip, president of the association, "for us to continue our work during the coming year to help build a healthier nation, one free from the threat of tuberculous infection.

"I want to add my personal appreciation for the untiring efforts of the many volunteers who have worked so faithfully to make our sale in Santa Clara county a success."

Those who have not returned their seals or sent in their contribution are urged to do so as soon as possible in order that the association may complete its records and reach its hoped for goal.

Olga Brydon Weds Bruce Cooper in Ceremony Dec. 15

In a setting of ivy and white candles the marriage of Miss Olga Louise Brydon eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Brydon of Campbell and Bruce Edson Cooper was solemnized Sunday afternoon, Dec. 15, at the Trinity Episcopal church in San Jose, in the presence of a large company of relatives and friends.

Prior to the ceremony Hugh Cramer sang two songs and promptly at four o'clock, to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, the bridal party advanced to the altar, the groom attended by his brother, Paul Cooper, and the bride leaning on the arm of her father, preceded by the maid of honor, her sister, Miss Nora Brydon. The full Episcopal service was read by the Rev. Mark Rifenbark to the beautiful strains of the organ played by LeRoy V. Brant.

The bride, who carried a shower bouquet of white gardenias and bouvardias, looked most charming in a gown of white silk net. Her veil was the same her mother wore at her wedding in Trinity church 27 years ago. The bridesmaid was most becomingly attired in a blue marquisette embroidered in pink flowers, with a halo of pink flowers and a veil. She carried a shower bouqet of pink roses and white sweet peas. Donald York and Robert Brydon, brother of the bride acted as ushers.

Following the ceremony and a reception held for the bride and groom at the home of the bride's parents, the bridal couple left for a honeymoon in the south. After their return they will be at home to friends on Neil avenue, San Jose.

The bride, a native of Campbell, is a graduate of San Jose State college and since the fall has been doing graduate work in dietetics at the University of California.

Mr. Cooper, who is affiliated with the Food Machinery company, has attended San Jose State college and the University of California. Both are graduates of Campbell Union High school.

The general woman's guild of the Campbell Congregational church holds its first meeting of the new year in the church parlors on Thursday, Jan. 9. It will take the form of a pot luck luncheon, with group 2 as hostess. All members and friends are cordially invited to bring their favorite dish, and be at the church promptly at 1 p. m.

Death Claims Rev. S. B. Brett

Death claimed the Reverend Southwell B. Brett Saturday at his home here at 30 South Third street.

Rev. and Mrs. Brett came to Campbell about five years ago during most of which he has been practically an invalid.

Born in London, England a little over 79 years ago, he came to the United States when he attained his majority, and graduated from Oberlin college in Ohio and was ordained for the ministry in 1894.

He was married in 1899 to Winifred Grainger at De Soto, Mo., which was one of his pastorates.

His first church was in Springfield, Mo., followed by a number of others, Waukesa, Wis., Lorain and Lucas, Ohio and then a long jump to Melbourne, Australia where he spent four years. Returning to this country in 1911 he was located at points on the Pacific coast, Winslow and Sunnyside, Wash., Ashland, Ore., and Rio Vista, Antioch and Guerneville in California. After retiring five years were spent near Sebastopol and his closing years here.

During all these years he visited his native land but once and that was Queen Victoria's jubilee year, 1898.

He is survived by his wife and six children, George S. and Arthur G. Brett of Seattle; Edward H. Brett of Los Angeles; Mrs. Grace Schmidt of Oakland; Mrs. Helen Garner of Los Gatos; and Mrs. Constance Monroe, of Honolulu, and a brother Charles Brett of St. Paul, Minnesota. All of the children with the exception of Mrs. Munroe were able to attend the services held Monday morning, at which the Rev. J. H. Bennett officiated.

The Rev. Brett was a very studious man, whose greatest pleasure beyond his pastoral duties and interests was in books. Because of ill health and failing eyesight he went out but little after coming to Campbell and was not widely known.

Campbell High A Cappella Choir Complimented

The following letter was received by C. P. Klassen, subsequent to the combined a cappella choir festival held in San Jose recently.

Mr. Klassen is the well-known director of vocal music at the high school and this letter from the director of the San Francisco Municipal chorus is very gratifying to his students and speaks well for his work as their leader.

My dear Mr. Klassen:

The Campbell High school chorus sang with good, clear tone-quality (excellent in the humming). The intonation in general was clean, diction and ensemble good. In my opinion the accents in the first number were too heavy and in some of the more difficult modulations the intonation could be clearer.

The contralto solo sounded lovely.

With my very best regards to you and your fine group and wishing you a Merry Christmas I am

Very sincerely yours
Hans Leschke

AMERICA'S IMMIGRANTS

The stranger in town may be outnumbered five thousand to one by the other inhabitants, but for a time he'll outdistance all of them in winning attention.

So it has been with the refugees who have recently sought sanctuary on America's shores. The attention they have received has been out of all proportion to their numbers. The suspicion that the country is being over-run with a great flood of immigrants is groundless. The actual facts of the matter are interesting and worth looking into.

During the last eight years, 1,230,192 immigrants could have entered the United States under the quotas. Actually, only 395,716 did. It is noteworthy that during these same eight years, almost as many foreign-born persons left the United States permanently as entered this country.

Present laws limit the number of immigrants to 153,774 persons a year. Of this total, 83,574 are allotted to Great Britain and Ireland. However, immigration figures show, the quotas since 1932 have not even been one-third filled. A recent survey by the immigration and naturalization service for 1939 yields the further enlightening fact that only one out of a typical 100 immigrants is an unskilled worker, likely to compete on the nation's labor market. Many of them, of course, bring specialized skills which are not duplicated here.

It is evident that the amount of immigration to America has been, and remains, extremely small, while at the same time the inflow and outflow of immigrants and emigrants have just about balanced.

If America desires to continue her role, which has been traditional for more than three centuries, of offering freedom and hope to those of other lands, plainly she can do so without jeopardizing her own security.

SNIFFLE SEASON

Winter winds throughout the country are at full blow, and so is the sniffle season.

In words of caution, the Public Health service wisely counsels sufferers from sniffles to go home and go to bed. It's the person who stays on his feet and tries to stick it out who is most apt to fall a victim to flu, in the opinion of health service physicians.

However sensible these words may be, it's not every person who can, or will, try to dodge the cold bug behind the counterpane. But at least, as loyal Californians and health-wise citizens, everyone cn build up his resistance to the pernicious common cold by liberally stocking up his innards with citrus fruits like oranges and grapefruit.

This attack upon the sniffle has the benefit of being both easy and inexpensive—a benefit, it is worth remembering, which was non-existent not so many years ago when oranges generally were a luxury seen only at Christmas time. Today they are available throughout the nation the year around thanks to large scale distribution.

With the common cold epidemic still prevailing, it's worth remembering that California's citrus orchards themselves offer one of the best protections agains the season of the Big Blow.

MUSIC IN THE AIR

Early communiques from the war front in the fateful music battle between radio and ASCAP, report the broadcasters as cheerily announcing "Everything is going as slick as a whistle." The fight, however, has just begun. The final decision will be cast by America's radio listeners who, though not pretending to be music critics, know what they like in no uncertain terms. The banning of all ASCAP composers' works from the air lanes does not, of course, put an end to music in the air. But, between tunesmiths of ASCAP and the broadcasters, it has put an end to harmony.

DAD'S WEEK

Give a thought to the Forgotten Man. This is his week. He's the man who figures in the post-holiday mail.

Now that the warm flood of Christmas time letters and happy New Year greetings have reached ebbtide, he's the recipient of that cool stream of communications which ever follow these holidays as night follows day.

These little communications, sparing of words and right to the point, are also known as bills. No member of the family will hurry to greet the mailman and seize these letters from him, as they did last week and the week before when the postman brought greetings of a different sort. No, indeed! This is the time when Dad comes into his own.

The first of the month bills, now falling due, are part of the aftermath of one of the most bustling, prosperous Christmas buying seasons the country has ever known.

Officially, of course, Dad's Day is months away. But as a supporting, silent—and sometimes not so silent—partner of a shopping holiday that put more new life and new dollars into circulation than have been seen in a decade, let's not forget him now. This is really his week.

BLACKOUT IN BETHLEHEM

When the passage of time has given to historians the true perspective for gauging the significance of world events of the last year, the most significant may not be the Battle of Britain, the Battle of France, the rearmament of mighty America, or the feebleness of Mussolini's war machine.

Most significant in revealing the major crisis of this age may be the fact that at Christmas, for the first time in nearly two thousand years, the shepherds who tend their flocks around the city of Bethlehem dared not light the traditional fires. Only the eternal stars shone upon the city where the light of Christianity was kindled. Men dared not show light in the city where the Prince of Peace was born. At Christmas, 1940, Bethlehem was blacked out.

CALIFORNIA HOLDS HER OWN

As a builder in the national defense program, California continues to hold down an enviable role. To only one state, New Jersey, need California bow in the amount of her defense orders. This state's total, on November 30, had reached $1,135,000,000, with $619,000,000 awarded for airplane and parts, and $376,000,000 for ship contracts. This total is only $14,000,000 under New Jersey's share of national defense orders. California's geography — her industries and her resources—this is the tripple-threat combination which is generating for this state bigger payrolls, more jobs, and new bustling activity on the economic front.

POLITICAL PARADE

By CLEM WHITAKER

It is undoubtedly bad form to start the New Year with a foreboding prophecy, but any realistic discussion of the issues which will confront both Congress and the state legislature, when they convene in January, must take into consideration the fact that this nation is likely to be at war with Germany before the 1941 legislative sessions are far advanced.

Based on the rapid whirl of events during the past few weeks—and on the reports which are now filtering back to California from the national capital—it is this writer's considered opinion that the United States fleet and air force are almost certain to be thrown into the battle to save Britain, probably within the next three months.

And tell-tale signs of the threatening storm are cropping up in profusion as prospective legislation is given its first public airing.

President Roosevelt, reluctant to the last to abridge the rights of labor, has finally yielded to the insistent demands of his Army-Navy-Defense advisers, according to well-authenticated reports from Washington, and will shortly declare a "war emergency."

As a consequence, labor will be told that for the duration of the emergency it must give up the right to strike, the 40-hour week and overtime beyond 40 hours. Congress, it is expected, will enact legislation to that end —and the state legislature will be asked to approve companion measures.

Capital, too, will get its orders! War orders will take priority over all non-essential commodities in big industrial plants. Automobile plants will be told that the public can get along without new cars, or at least with a limited number, and tanks and airplanes will roll off auto assembly lines. The timber industry will produce for Uncle Sam's military machine; farmers will gear their production and marketing to feed and clothe the nation's military forces, as well as its civilian population. Makers of machine tools will be told to stop producing trinkets and gadgets and start production of war materials.

A stringent act to crack down on saboteurs in war industries will be considered (both undoubtedly enacted) by both Congress and the several state legislatures.

This country's entry into the war if it comes, as most Washington observers now expect—will be predicated on the conviction that Britain is America's first line of defense, and that redoubtable England, even with its great fleet and its magnificent morale, can't win without the United States air force and the United States navy.

Miss Florence Kennedy and Tom and David Farley left Monday morning by auto for Los Angeles where they are visiting relatives and witnessed the Rose Bowl game Wednesday.

This is how they saved IN 1854

IN 1854, when this bank was founded, people who saved successfully did it this way: they put aside a definite (even if not large) sum every month. And they deposited that sum promptly in the bank, before they were tempted to spend it.

In 1940 they did it the same way.

In 1941 you can save successfully by following the same simple plan. Start now.

1940 Traffic Hits New High On S. P. Lines

Southern Pacific's volume of freight traffic in 1940 was the greatest in the company's history, ton miles having exceeded even the heavy traffic volume of 1929, according to a year-end report on the company's activities by A. D. McDonald president.

"However," McDonald pointed out, "the company received about one-third of a cent less revenue on the average for each ton mile in 1940 than it did in 1929, equivalent to a reduction of 23 per cent."

"In spite of many difficulties, the railroads have created a new era in transportation," McDonald said.

"Benefits from the new era in railroading have gone to transportation users in the best service in history at the lowest average railroad rates in the world; to employes in highest wages in history; and to government in a substantial increase in the proportion of taxes paid to revenues received.

The Southern Pacific president said the railroads are confident of their ability to handle efficiently any added transportation load due to national defense activities.

Acacia Fiesta Jan. 18 to 26

In Santa Clara county they have found a new kind of gold that grows on trees—the golden acacias. The acacia is a beautiful flower that gets a jump on spring by flowering early. In fact, some of the acacias are beginning to bloom now. Last winter over 200,000 bouquets of acacias were shipped to the cold, wintery east in 83 refrigerator cars where easterners paid $3.50 a bouquet.

The other day plans were made for an annual acacia fiesta by representatives of the San Jose Chamber of Commerce, Californians, Inc. and the California Mission Trails association. Dates were set for January 18-26, inclusive. George Keith was selected as chairman of the festival. The acacia is found all the way from Burlingame in San Mateo county to Carmel in Monterey county, but the larger groves are in the vicinity of Saratoga, Los Gatos and Los Altos.

Prospective purchasers of such equipment were urged by the department to assure themselves that devices offered for sale have been approved by the department before buying them.

A list of devices officially approved as complying with the new section has been forwarded to all dealers, accessory stores and official headlight stations, it was stated.

Opportunity Missed

A $100 bill lay in a Main street gutter in Edwardsville for seven hours one day recently, overlooked by hundreds who walked by. Accidentally dropped by a local citizen as he entered his automobile late in the afternoon, it was near midnight before he discovered the spot where he had parked his car, searched the gutter for a few moments and found the bill.

Simple Yet Splendid Desserts

By BETTY BARCLAY

Did you know that the fruit dessert, so popular today when everyone is diet conscious, is an old, old custom? In England, Eleanor, Countess of Leicester, introduced oranges as a dessert in the year 1290, when juice squeezers or extractors were unheard of and a glass of orange juice would have been a novelty.

Fruit desserts have played an important part in the food habits of many countries. They originated and were most used in warmer climates favorable to fruit production. With the cultural development of many fruits, such as oranges, lemons and grapefruit in this country, and modern high-speed transportation, these delicious natural foods so favorable to health have become available to all. This year when citrus fruits from California and the southern states are more plentiful than ever before and within the reach of every pocketbook is an opportune time to serve them in a variety of ways.

The Orange Ambrosia pictured is a simple dessert to prepare and an excellent balance with a dinner rich in calories.

Orange Ambrosia
(Serves 6)

6 oranges, peeled and sliced
½ cup powdered sugar
½ cup grated coconut

Arrange orange slices in serving dish; sprinkle with sugar and coconut. California oranges are preferred for slicing since they are firm-meated and virtually seedless.

Two orange desserts somewhat more elaborate than Ambrosia yet easy-to-make are an Orange Spanish Cream and an Orange Shortcake. These recipes are new and recently tested in Betty Barclay's kitchen. They are excellent.

Orange Spanish Cream
(Serves 6-8)

2 tablespoons gelatine
2 cups milk
½ cup sugar
3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon grated orange peel
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup orange juice
3 egg whites, stiffly beaten
Orange segments
Seedless grapes

Soak gelatine and milk together for 5 minutes. Put in top of double boiler and heat. When gelatine is dissolved, add sugar. Pour this hot mixture slowly over slightly beaten egg yolks. Return to double boiler and cook until thickened somewhat, stirring constantly. Remove from flame and add salt, grated orange and lemon peel, lemon and orange juice, stiffly beaten egg whites.

Let stiffen in 9-inch ring mold. Unmold on serving plate and fill center with orange segments. Dessert will separate into a clear layer and a layer of creamy sponge.

Orange Shortcake
(Serves 6-8)

This is one of the best fresh fruit shortcake recipes we have tried. Do not omit the orange sauce; it adds immeasurably to the success of the whole.

2 cups sifted, all-purpose flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar
4 tablespoons shortening
1 egg
Milk

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Cut in shortening. Beat egg in measuring cup and fill to the ½ mark with milk. Combine dry mixture with eggs and milk, stirring quickly until a soft but not sticky dough is formed, adding more milk if necessary. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead for a few seconds. Divide dough in half and pat each gently into an 8-inch layer pan. Bake at 425° F. about 12 minutes.

Put layers together and spread top with segments or slices from 6 oranges, sweetened to taste. Serve with sauce made with:

1 cup orange juice
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons shredded orange peel

"Northwest Mounted" At Blanco's

Starring Gary Cooper and Madeleine Carroll, and boasting a supporting cast headed by a long list of stars including Paulette Goddard, Preston Foster, Robert Preston, Akim Tamiroff, Lynne Overman, George Bancroft, Walter Hampden, Lon Chaney, Jr., Cecil B. DeMille's production in technicolor of "Northwest Mounted Police" opens tonight (Thursday) at Blanco's Campbell theater for three days.

Set in the period when Canada was threatened by a civil war of its own as thousands of half-breeds revolted against the government, the picture relates a magnificent story of the courage which made the Northwest Mounted one of the most respected forces in the world. It tells of the love stories of two Mounted Policemen—one in love with a gallant nurse, and the other fascinated by an Indian girl who is about as tame as a tiger.

Thrilling incidents mark every reel of the film, as the police, aided by an equally gallant Texas Ranger, seek to quell the rebellion of the half-breeds. One startling climax is reached as fifty Mounted Police face thousands of half-breeds and a Gatling gun—and that's just one of the thrilling moments of this masterpiece.

Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Campbell theater will be shown "The Letter" starring Bette Davis, and "Texas Rangers Ride Again."

The FARMERS CORNER

by RALPH H. TAYLOR
Executive Secretary Agricultural Council of California

How the state legislature starts the New Year—at its fifty-fourth regular session, which is scheduled to convene at Sacramento on Jan. 6—will determine, in many respects, how California finishes it!

What the legislature does may determine, to large extent, whether millions of Californians end up the year in red ink or black. It may determine, too, whether hundreds of thousands, now unemployed, are given an opportunity to rehabilitate themselves in private employment, or whether they are doomed to another year of doles and dependency. It may determine whether thousands of farmers will be in business or bankruptcy at the end of 1941.

Headline issues of the forthcoming legislative session run the gamut of relief, taxation, unemployment insurance, reapportionment, labor legislation, prison reform, national defense, regulatory acts applying to agriculture, business and industry, important changes in the motor vehicle code and sundry other subjects which, when translated into human terms, have a vital bearing on the life and welfare of nearly every citizen.

But regardless of the question at issue, the most urgent need in the legislature—and among the people back home, whose attitude will influence the legislature—is the need for tolerance and understanding of the other fellow's problems, the need for reasonableness and unselfishness so that the public good may be made the primary consideration in coping with every problem which may be presented. That, at first glance, may seem like a Utopian desire, improbable of fulfillment, but both California and the nation—if they consider thoughtfully the disasters which have overtaken other peoples, and the desperate need for a new patriotism here which rises above personal gain or personal advantage—can and must make that desire a reality.

The problem of relief for the destitute, for example, should and must be approached with the thought of providing for those who can't provide for themselves, efficiently and practically, with the least possible drain on those who foot the bill. But more than that, the whole program must be designed to get men off relief—and into prideful private employment—as rapidly as possible. The Economy Bloc in the legislature, by its demands that political influence, radicalism and favoritism be eliminated from relief—and that relief administrative costs be cut to the bone—has saved California taxpayers untold millions during the past two years. At the forthcoming session, it is probable that a bill will be pressed to return relief administration to the counties—and that bill should be considered, not politically, but on its merits. If it will help both the needy and those who provide for them, then it should be enacted—even though it means that a number of political jobholders will be unceremoniously cut off the payroll.

On the issue of taxation, the problem has changed tremendously since the 1939 legislative session. State revenues from normal sources are mounting by leaps and bounds, due to defense spending, it is exceedingly unlikely that there will be any demand for new taxes at the 1941 session, as there was two years ago. On the other hand, rising revenues tend to encourage extravagance—and budgets for state departments should be held in check, so that increased income of the next year or two may be used to wipe out the state deficit, instead of creating new posts for political jobseekers. Federal taxes, due to the vast defense program, are certain to double and treble during the years just ahead, and routine governmental expenditures must be kept down to the minimum if taxpayers are to escape ruinous burdens.

There is vital need, too, for reasonableness on the labor issue. Recently, the state supreme court has upheld the secondary boycott, which, if invoked, may play havoc with the farming industry and many other industries. California labor—and American labor, as a whole—needs to remember that labor excesses led the way to the fall of France and enslavement of the French people, workers and employers alike. The American public is prepared to make every sacrifice to insure the adequate preparedness of this country in a period of emergency, but it will not long tolerate labor tieups which jeopardize the nation's welfare; labor should take account of that—before it is too late. Labor would be saving itself future headaches if it appeared before the forthcoming legislature, prepared to be reasonable—even if that reasonableness calls for the repeal of measures which infringe on the rights of others, such as the secondary boycott.

Southern California and Northern California are prepared to do battle over the issue of legislative reapportionment; it is to be hoped that they will be reasonable. There will be demands from both sides for amendment of the Unemployment Insurance act; again, both sides have need to be reasonable.

California, during 1941, needs unity more than at any other time in many years. It needs to "live and let live"; it needs to demonstrate a new, unselfish Americanism. Let's hope that the 1941 legislature, forgetting partisan and factional politics, sets the pace—and legislates for the public good and the public welfare!
